* Sample and past Tutor Guidance documents are available on the NCFE website and should be used to prepare for the delivery of the assessment, but note that live, paper-specific versions are published for each series and there may be small variations compared to previous versions.

 Marks must be entered onto the Portal before midnight on the final submission date and any inactive students must be withdrawn. Failure to do this will result in delays to final moderation and student results. Final moderation will take place when the assessment window closes.

Section 5 General Information

- Marks for moderated assessments must be entered for all learners onto the Portal on or before the final submission date. Any inactive learners must be withdrawn, and students who did not attend marked as DNA. Your sampling plan will be available to view on the Portal the next working day. This will only be available when all learner marks are present. If you have missed the deadline, contact tlevelsupport@ncfe.org.uk.
- Evidence for all learners on the moderation sampling plan must be submitted within 3 working days of the final submission date. Visit the NCFE website for information on sending evidence for moderation. Failure to enter marks or submit evidence within the above timescales will be referred to our Provider Assurance team for review and investigation and will result in delays to final moderation and student results. This will also impact your centre's risk rating following the annual monitoring review.
- Where reference is made to Advanced Assessment Materials within this document, this relates to any pre-release materials, made available to providers or students, including system configuration requirements, before assessment papers themselves are available.
- Assessment papers for paper-based external assessments (Core Exams) will be dispatched for arrival 3 working days before the date of an assessment.
- Where assessment material is shared digitally (Core ESP and Occupational Specialisms) assessment material will be available within the NCFE Portal 3 working days before the date of assessment, unless specified otherwise.
- Completed external assessment evidence must be returned to NCFE within 3 working days following the date of assessment or final date of an assessment window. This requires return of Core Exam papers using the Yellow Label service (or secure equivalent), and to the upload of completed digital assessment material via the NCFE Portal.
- All information contained within this document is valid and accurate as of the date of publication. Should there be any additional relevant information, unique to a particular paper or series, then this will be communicated to providers, both in separate, targeted communications and within an updated version of this document as required.
