Dear Lucy,

NCFE Level 3 Applied General Certificate in Music Technology (601/6779/8)

This is a highly vocational qualification that offers a broad grounding in various key aspects of music technology, enabling students who successfully complete it to progress towards study of a related discipline in higher education. The course is well structured and has been carefully designed to accommodate a range of learners and centres with varying resources.

I have carried out a careful review of the Qualification Specification, and can see that this course can be considered alongside other level 3 programs with which I am familiar.

The University of West London draws students from a diverse range of backgrounds and specialisms, and this course will certainly produce students that we will consider for acceptance on our large range of Music Technology-oriented degrees.

We are happy to endorse this qualification, and indeed for this statement to be made public on the NCFE website.

Yours sincerely,

Professor Justin Paterson
Associate Professor of Music Technology
