

NCFE Level 1 Functional Skills Qualification in English (603/5058/1): Writing

Paper number: Practice Paper 01

Mark Scheme v1.0

Markers' briefing note

Marks in the English Writing component are awarded for 'independent understanding of written language in specific contexts'. Whilst the learner may use the content of the scenarios to inform their writing, the writing activities do not assess reading skills or interpretation of any stimuli.

Learners are expected to produce an open response. Depending on the context of the activity, a learner may support either side of an argument, or adopt any well-reasoned stance, using the scenarios and / or their own ideas and experiences. What should be assessed is their ability to do this whilst meeting all the subject content statements.

Subject content statements (SCS)

L1.3.19 Use a range of punctuation correctly (for example, full stops, question marks, exclamation marks, commas, possessive apostrophes)

L1.3.20 Use correct grammar (for example, subject-verb agreement, consistent use of a range of tenses, definite and indefinite articles)

L1.3.21 Spell words used most often in work, study and daily life, including specialist words

L1.3.22 Communicate information, ideas and opinions clearly, coherently and accurately

L1.3.23 Write text of an appropriate level of detail and of appropriate length (including where this is specified) to meet the needs of purpose and audience

L1.3.24 Use format, structure and language appropriate for audience and purpose

L1.3.25 Write consistently and accurately in complex sentences, using paragraphs where appropriate

The following relates to both activities unless otherwise indicated.

Marking guidance			Marks	Subject content ref.
Notes
- Judgements should be made for quality of responses expected at level 1. - A response does not have to be error-free to be awarded full marks. - A response does not have to demonstrate all bullets in the mark band to be awarded the mark. A ‘best-fit’ approach should be taken to the awarding of the Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar (SPaG) marks.
Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar (SPaG)
For responses under 100 words, examiners should apply professional judgement when awarding SPaG marks. Typically, shorter responses will not contain sufficient evidence to access the full nine marks for SPaG. However, where a shorter response demonstrates clear accuracy, control, and range in language use, it may still achieve full marks for SPaG.
Punctuation: zero marks should be given for no awardable content
One of the following:
[1 mark] A limited range of punctuation has been used, but not always correctly. Errors may affect meaning and / or readability. Some correct use of punctuation. For example, commas in lists are sometimes used correctly. - Beginning and end of sentence is correct (accept minor errors). Some inconsistent use of other punctuation marks. For example, use of lower case ‘i’ for the personal pronoun.	[2 marks] A range of punctuation has been used, mostly correctly. Errors do not affect meaning, although reading may be more difficult. Generally correct punctuation. For example, end of sentence punctuation, such as use of question marks and exclamation marks, is generally correct. - Apostrophes for omission are generally correct.	[3 marks] A range of punctuation has been used correctly. Minor errors do not affect meaning or readability. Consistently correct punctuation. For example, where used, question marks, exclamation marks, commas and possessive apostrophes are consistently accurate. Note: full marks should be given for responses demonstrating control and consistently correct punctuation, including responses that do not include a range of punctuation.	3	SCS 19

Grammar: zero marks should be given for no awardable content
One of the following:
[1 mark] Grammatical errors make reading difficult. • Some correct subject-verb agreement and use of tense. • Some correct sentence structure / syntax. • Errors may affect meaning. Note: award mark if one grammatically correct sentence has been written.	[2 marks] Basic grammar is correct. Where more ambitious grammar is attempted, errors do not affect meaning, although reading may be more difficult. • Generally correct subject-verb agreement and verb tense. • Generally correct sentence structure.	[3 marks] Grammatical errors are minor and have little impact on meaning and readability. Sentence structures are more ambitious. • Consistently correct subject-verb agreement and use of tense. • Consistently correct sentence structure.	3	SCS 20
Spelling: zero marks should be given for no awardable content
One of the following:
[1 mark] Incorrect spelling affects meaning and / or readability in places. • Some correct spelling of straightforward words. • Errors may affect meaning.	[2 marks] Correct spelling of straightforward words. Errors in some ambitious words are minor and do not affect meaning. • Generally correct spelling of straightforward words.	[3 marks] Correct spelling of straightforward words, and some ambitious and / or specialist words. • Consistently correct spelling, including some ambitious and / or specialist words. Note: expect correct spelling of two-syllable words with double consonants, the doubling of final consonants before suffixes.	3	SCS 21

Writing composition
Content, clarity and coherence: zero marks should be given for no awardable content
One of the following:
[1 mark] The response: - has some clarity and coherence - is sometimes accurate in communicating information, ideas and opinions.	[2 marks] The response: - is generally clear and coherent throughout - is generally accurate in communicating information, ideas and opinions. Note: coverage of topic may be list like, scant or tangential.	[3 marks] The response: - is consistently clear and coherent throughout - is consistently accurate in communicating information, ideas and opinions. Note: occasional lapses do not impact coherence overall.	3	SCS 22
Detail: zero marks should be given for no awardable content
One of the following:
The response has appropriate detail for the purpose and audience. [1 mark]			1	SCS 23
The response is of an appropriate length for the purpose and audience, including where specified. [1 mark]			1	SCS 23
Note for SCS 23: A response must meet the requirements of the word count (where given) to be awarded this mark. If no word count is stated then responses should be over 100 words to be awarded this mark. However, the length mark should be awarded to responses that demonstrate concision, even if they are shorter than 100 words. Notes for SCS 22 and 23: Activity 1 / 2 Prompts do not need to be strictly adhered to in order to access all available marks. Full marks are awardable so long as the response is relevant to the question, clear, and otherwise successfully meets criteria for SCS 22 and 23.

Format, structure and language: zero marks should be given for no awardable content
Formatting Award one mark for the main formatting feature, up to a maximum of two marks where an additional feature is also used. • Main formatting feature is used (see appendix).
